

ABSTRACT OF THE DISCLOSURE

A watch case has a circular watch body between pairs of lugs of which and between the lugs of each pair of which the body is formed with toroidal segments. One of these segments is provided centrally with a crown and, if desired, radiused buttons for operating the stop watch function of the watch works within the casing.

ef-